

Dr. Riccardo Andrea Carletto Ph.D.

Riccardo Andrea Carletto from Turin (Italy) attended the Politecnico of Turin faculty of Engineering where achieved the Master Degree and Ph.D. in Chemical Engineering. He has an experience of 10 years in scientific research, currently he works as researcher for Institute for Macromolecular Studies (ISMAC) of Italian National Research Council (CNR) in Biella Department.

His main interests are in the field of new products/processes development from renewable sources, innovative materials for textile industry, biotechnology and nanotechnology.